

Adding your own content

ESXGuide is open to registered users to add and update Information on the website

All users are invited to add content to our website.

To enable publishing, user registration is required and you need to login.

On the locations where publishing is allowed, the "new" symbol is visible.

Wiki is also available to all users. It can also be reached through a wysiwyg webpage. Create a link with:

[[[this is the link text]]] and save the page. After it is activated and can be used if you reload and view the page.

Thank you for any contribution, it will help us to transfer knowledge and others to install and run ESX.
